the story

Bozeman Health has grown from a single hospital into a regional healthcare leader serving communities across southwestern Montana. With more than 2,000 employees and a network of hospitals, clinics, and specialty centers, the nonprofit system is dedicated to improving quality of life through compassionate care and community connection.

As part of its commitment to behavioral health, Bozeman Health opened the Madison Wing Behavioral Health Unit to provide safe, dignified spaces designed to support healing. Inpro played a role in helping the system achieve this vision by contributing solutions that combine durability with design sensitivity.

the results

Through collaboration with Inpro, the Madison Wing Behavioral Health Unit was transformed into an environment that blends resilience with restorative design. Aspex® Printed Wall Protection played a central role, introducing expansive landscape imagery that celebrates Montana's outdoors, from vibrant wildflower meadows to tranquil riverbanks. These large-format visuals create a biophilic connection, helping patients and caregivers experience the restorative qualities of nature within the built environment.

Studies show that incorporating biophilic design elements in healthcare spaces can reduce stress, lower blood pressure, and improve overall well-being by up to 30 percent. By integrating these calming visuals into a durable, easy-to-clean wall protection system, Inpro helped the design team achieve both visual comfort and long-term performance. The result is an uplifting space that reflects Montana's natural beauty while meeting the rigorous demands of daily healthcare use.

obsessed with protecting buildings®

How they look. How they function.
And how they protect the health and safety
of the people who use them every day.

That's why we make hundreds of architectural products all under one roof and work tirelessly to make sure you and your buildings succeed.

Yeah, we are obsessed. But we wouldn't have it any other way.
