the story

Located in the sunny foothills of the Sierra Estrella Mountain Range, the Sheraton Grand Resort at Wild Horse Pass sits in the Sonoran Desert amongst the Arizona landscape.

Combining architecture, design and art with the history and legends of the local Akimel O'otham and Pee Posh tribes, the Sheraton Grand helps to represent its Southwest environment and the Native American artistry and community that surrounds it.

To be reminiscent of the community's Indigenous heritage and culture, ensuring that the architectural products used would tell their story was crucial in the development and renovation of the resort.

Inpro partnered with the Sheraton Grand at Wild Horse Pass to help communicate those motifs into some of the most protective layers of the building.

Inpro's solutions helped to meet the design aesthetics of the Southwest resort, and also meet the performance demands that the resort required.

With Inpro's durable architectural products, the vision of the Grand Sheraton at Wild Horse Pass continues to strengthen the first impression that guests hold on during their stay.

obsessed with protecting buildings®

How they look. How they function.
And how they protect the health and safety of the people who use them every day.

That's why we make hundreds of architectural products all under one roof and work tirelessly to make sure you and your buildings succeed.

Yeah, we are obsessed. But we wouldn't have it any other way.
