the story

LifeBridge Health is committed to delivering exceptional, patient-centered care to communities throughout Maryland. To further that mission, Sinai Hospital opened the Mandy & Dennis Weinman Cancer Building, bringing advanced oncology services together in an environment designed to support healing, comfort, and hope.

Designed by Wilmot Sanz, the facility takes a hospitality-inspired approach to healthcare, creating a warm, welcoming atmosphere for patients and families. Inpro partnered with the project team to provide interior protection solutions that supported this design vision while delivering the durability, safety, and functionality required in a healthcare environment.

the results

Inpro helped the project team create a space that supports both the practical demands of healthcare and the comfort of the people receiving care. G2 PVC-Free Wall Protection in White Sand and a custom Sherwin-Williams color match, along with Palladium® Rigid Sheet Wall Protection in Barrel Oak, provided durable protection while reinforcing the warm, hospitality-inspired design.

The 3110 Handrail and 900 Stainless Steel Handrail support safe movement throughout the facility, while the 1500 Wall Guard, Stainless Steel Corner Guards, and Stainless Steel End Wall Guards help protect high-impact areas from everyday wear.

By integrating protection into the overall design, the project team was able to maintain a welcoming, thoughtfully designed environment for patients, families, and staff without sacrificing long-term performance.
